

Study Jewish Music!

- New focus subject 'Jewish Music Studies' in the MA in Music Research and Education
- New course offerings in Jewish Music Studies at both BA and MA levels

New courses include:

- Introduction to Jewish Music
- Jewish Music in Germany Today
- Stars of David: Jews and Popular Music
- Jewish Music Traditions of the Middle East and North Africa

What is the EZJM?

- The EZJM is part of the Hanover University of Music, Drama and Media (HMTMH)
- The EZJM is dedicated to the research, reconstruction, documentation and mediation of Jewish music in all its forms, from synagogue music to paraliturgical and secular musical traditions, in different cultural contexts and epochs.
- The research focus of the centre is diverse and includes research on Jewish music and sustainability, an online database of Jewish composers and cantors, field research on the repertoire of Romaniote Jewry in Greece, and Hip-Hop and Jewish identity in South Tel-Aviv, as well as research on the gender-specific aspects of Jewish music
- The Jewish Music Ensemble gives students the unique and innovative opportunity to engage with Jewish music through academic study coupled with performative encounter and experimentation. The ensemble is open to all interested members of HMTMH

Study options:

Masters (MA):

- Our courses in Jewish Music Studies can be taken as a major or complimentary subject in the MA in Music Research and Education.
- In addition, 'Jewish Music Studies' courses can be taken in any of the MA modules.
- All Masters students are also very welcome to take part in our courses.

Bachelor's degree (BA or BMUS):

- Bachelor's students across the university are invited to enroll in our new courses.
- BA students wishing to diversify their musical knowledge or those with an interest in Jewish Music or Ethnomusicology are warmly invited to attend.

Course attendance is also possible as a supplementary course in artistic studies.

Career prospects include:

- Academic Career
- Ensemble Leader
- Concert Manager
- Music Teacher

Courses in English: Our English language medium courses are designed to cater to the needs of our international students.

Why Hanover?

- Our Master's degree program is the first of its kind in Europe.
- Students are involved in dynamic research projects from the outset to with their subject in theory and practice.
- Studying in Germany is relatively inexpensive for international students (the tuition fee for the 2017/18 semester was approximately 380 €).
- Hanover is well-connected to research centres both nationally and internationally.
- The EZJM works in conjunction with the Center for World Music as an extensive musical metropolitan research hub in Germany.
- Close contact with Hannover's four Jewish communities reinforces ties between the academy and the diverse practice of music in everyday Jewish life.
- The city boasts many diverse cultural, social and leisure opportunities.

Study requirements for the MA in 'Music Research and Education':

For all study courses of the HMTMH certain admission requirements apply. However, if you are concerned that you do not meet one or some of the requirements, but are interested in taking our courses, please contact us to discuss your individual needs!

More information about the study requirements can be found at:

<http://www.hmtm-hannover.de/de/bewerbung/bewerbung-aufnahmepruefung/bewerbung/>

Apply until 15 April for the coming winter season!

More information at:

<Http://www.hmtm-hannover.de>

If you have any questions, feel free to contact us:

Prof. Dr. Sarah M. Roß

Director of the EZJM

T. +49-(0)511-844887-101

sarah.ross@hmtm-hannover.de

Dr. Miranda L. Crowdus

Research Associate

T. +49-(0)511-844887-122

miranda.crowdus@hmtm-hannover.de